Brodies LLP Seminar Programme
Autumn 2017

BRODIES^{LLP}

GOING ABOVE AND BEYOND

As part of our commitment to going above and beyond for our clients, we created BInformed, which brings together the wide-ranging expertise of our lawyers in one place and includes blogs, legal updates, e-bulletins, videos, training sessions and our popular free seminar programme. Now in its 12th year, our seminar programme, coupled with the other elements of BInformed, reflects our commitment to free knowledge-sharing with our clients and contacts.

This autumn we will be offering a series of informative and entertaining seminars, which will be hosted at our offices in Aberdeen, Edinburgh and Glasgow.

The wide variety of hot topics that will be discussed include what organisations should be doing now to prepare for the introduction of the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR); IP protection; an update on the All Scotland Personal Injury Court; recent trends and issues in commercial law; managing corruption risks; Entrepreneur's Relief; the impact of Brexit on environmental law; and claim defensibility training.

For more information and to book your place, please visit brodies.com/seminars-and-events or scan the QR code below with your smartphone to go straight to our online booking page.

Please use our hashtag #BInformed to pose questions before each seminar, and to give us your thoughts and feedback.

To find out more about other aspects of our BInformed programme, all of which are available free online, visit brodies.com.

We look forward to seeing you.

All Scotland Personal Injury Court - two years on, what lessons have been learnt?

This seminar will consider the development of the All Scotland Personal Injury Court (ASPIC) since it was established two years ago. Attendees will be given practical guidance about defending claims in the ASPIC and how to avoid falling foul of its practices and procedures.

We will:

- examine the case law from the ASPIC;
- discuss the organisational changes within the court and their implications; and
- provide practical advice about conducting or managing litigation in the ASPIC.

Speakers

- Kate Donachie

Back to basics – boilerplate clauses in commercial contracts

This seminar will provide an overview of why certain boilerplate clauses, which are often overlooked, are used in commercial contracts, and the potential pitfalls that can be avoided through careful drafting.

This practical seminar aims to:

- explain the purpose behind certain boilerplate clauses, such as notice clauses, non-waiver clauses and non-variation clauses;
- present case studies, through recent court decisions on these clauses, to show real-life examples of the potential pitfalls; and
- provide practical examples of ways to avoid potential risks through careful drafting.

Speakers

Charity law update

This seminar will cover some of the key legal issues that charities should be considering to support robust governance and underpin effective operations and activities.

This seminar will:

- examine key aspects of employment law affecting charities;
- provide an overview of the new Scottish fundraising oversights and procedures;
- discuss data protection and information law (a key part of effective and compliant fundraising);
- look at legacy/bequest income and protection and ‘grant-giving’; and
- provide an update on charities/third sector constitutions and structures.

This is an opportunity to hear from our leading legal experts in charities, employment, private client and data protection/information law.

Speakers

Claim defensibility training - defending the defensible

This interactive training session will look at the key points in incident investigation including:

- reporting;
- recovery of evidence/privilege; and
- dealing with authorities/claimant lawyers.

In addition, we will provide updates in relation to prosecutions and penalties. Both on and offshore examples will be considered.

After this seminar you should be more comfortable with investigating and mitigating post incident and we can hopefully help you to avoid a crisis turning in to a (court) drama.

Commercial law update – recent trends and issues

Brodies' commercial services division is a market-leading practice that supports the commercial activities of organisations across all industry sectors. The division comprises some of the country's leading commercial contract experts working alongside specialists in other commercially-focused areas – including IP, technology & outsourcing, procurement, corporate tax, employment, employee benefits and pensions.

In the second instalment of our series of twice-yearly commercial law updates, which will focus on recent trends and 'hot topics', our legal experts will discuss topical issues including:

- commercial implications of recent case law;
- implications of political and economic developments such as Brexit; and
- recent and upcoming legislation (including the General Data Protection Regulation and Reporting on Payment Practices and Performance Regulations 2017) and its effect on business.

Speakers

The contracting compass – using anti-bribery clauses to manage corruption risks. It's as easy as ABC...

The oil and gas industry continues to be regarded as an 'at risk' sector when it comes to bribery and corruption. UK regulators and prosecutors are taking an increasingly robust approach to non-compliance. 'Fit for purpose' anti-bribery and corruption (ABC) clauses are a key part of compliance.

This session will consider:

- forms of ABC clause currently in use;
- tips for drafting effective ABC clauses;
- how to use ABC clauses strategically; and
- the operation of ABC clauses when things go wrong.

Speakers

- Paul Marshall
- Eve Brazier

Driving estate planning in different vehicles

Families who wish to preserve their family wealth and pass it on to future generations have a lot to consider if they cannot – or do not want to – simply hand over large sums of money or existing assets. Fortunately, there is a wide range of vehicles through which such transfers can take place, from joint ownership through trusts to more sophisticated structures involving family partnerships and companies.

Our estate planning experts highlight the options, the opportunities and the threats.

Speakers

- Neil Ritchie - Aberdeen, Edinburgh & Glasgow
- Alan Barr - Edinburgh & Glasgow
- Mark Stewart - Aberdeen

Dates & times

Aberdeen - Thursday 2 November - 17.00 - 18.30
Edinburgh - Tuesday 21 November - 17.00 - 18.30
Glasgow - Tuesday 28 November - 17.00 - 18.30

Entrepreneurs' Relief – do you qualify?

Entrepreneurs' Relief (ER) is a valuable tax relief for those disposing of their business or company, potentially halving the rate of tax on gains of up to a lifetime limit of £10 million. However, the relief that is often assumed and the issues (or legal changes) that prevent it from applying are frequently identified too late. So, how do you ensure that it remains available?

This seminar will provide you with the knowledge to ensure that ER remains available. In addition, with a significant number of companies being acquired by private equity (PE) buyers, this seminar will touch on the common issues around ER that sellers face in PE deals.

Come along to find out:

- how ER works;
- how you can plan to ensure ER remains available;
- what pitfalls to look out for;
- the opportunities and risks associated with ER and an Enterprise Management Incentive; and
- whether Investors' Relief is an alternative.

Financial crime - keeping your digital transactions safe

Increasing reliance on digital technology for financial transactions, coupled with rising levels of reported financial crime, means that it is essential for businesses and individuals using these technologies to understand the potential risks associated with operating online and what they can do to protect themselves.

This interactive session, delivered by litigation and financial crime specialists in conjunction with an industry expert at RBS, will provide a practical overview of some of the scams currently being perpetuated and how they can be foiled by following best practice and exercising proper diligence. We will also explain the legal obligations, the limitations on recovery and the possible remedies available if an individual or a SME should fall victim to online fraud.

Speakers

GDPR for HR – turning theory into practice

The General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) comes into force in May 2018 and heralds the biggest shakeup of data protection law in 20 years.

Information about GDPR is now easy to find, but the principles are one thing – the practice is something quite different. Getting ready for GDPR requires a solid analysis of your management of HR data, project management and a change in policy.

In this session we will limit the time dealing with the rules themselves and focus on:

- data mapping for HR – with real life examples;
- data categorisation, privacy notices and consent;
- policy development and day-to-day management; and
- sharing knowledge and practical experience.

Speakers
